New York has no representation in the championship classes, but many of its high schools are listed in Class 1. They are Manual Training. Morris, Stuyvesant, De Witt Clinton and Commerce. Commercial, Boys High and Curtis are placed in Class 2. The list is as follows:

possible before he comes to the suprement test with Willard.

"Furthermore, Fulton believes that the public wants a fighting man to fight When we came here Fulton tackled Cowler, the man picked for him. He didn't ask for any particular opponent. Now he stands ready to clean up the rest of the heavyweights. We mentioned Weinert, Coffey and possibly Carl Morris because they look like the best in sight. We expect to beat them, and then we will be ready for Moran.

"I will say that when Moran and Fulton meet Fred is ready to have his end of the purse go as a side bet that he will beat Moran. Meantime if Moran is really litching for action he might step out and try to wipe away the impression left from his ten round clashes with Jack Dillon and Gunboat Smith."

Futts's Position Weak.

The baseball strike situation appears to be growing weaker every day. Illooks like a practical certainty that a large percentage of the boys will be in line when the time for reporting comes along. President Futts of the Players Fraternity still insists that his organization has the matter well in hand. However, along with Fuitz's statements of the lacussing his plans Browne and counsel of Gov. Whitman.

stand by their employers. As a matter of fact certain little differences exist in the ranks of the fraternity.

For instance, Dick Hoblitzel, who proclaims his loyalty to the fraternity, is opposed to the move of applying for a charter in the American Federation of Labor. All Demarce, another strong and loyal fraternity member, is opposed to the idea advanced by Fuitz of calling the strike just at the time clubs are starting for training oamps, especially since the date named by Fuitz happens to be the day appointed for the departure of the Cubs for their camp in California.

Fuitz declares that members of the National Commission have expressed themselves as favoring the measures which the fratefulty accs. But it is at the hands of the National Board that the hands of the National Board that the important requests must be had And the commission disavows any authority to compel the board to act. All
